

I AM THE KNIGHT: The Science of Batman the Animated Series

5/26/2017 1:30:00 PM

1 Hour

Science

North 132BC

Batman the Animated Series is responsible for memorable characters like Harley Quinn and the reinvention of Mr. Freeze as a tragic villain. Scientists and engineers discuss what their favorite episodes of the show got right.

Teachers will discover resources for teaching engineering concepts, current topics in speculative science and discussion points for student engagement in science & pop culture.

David Oakes, Graduate Degree, Teacher, Math, biological Remodeling, CISA-Science and Math

Alyssa Henning, Graduate Student, Studying Biological Design, Arizona State University

Brian Johnson, Graduate Student, Studying Virology, Arizona State University