

Minefield: How to teach controversial topics

5/26/2017 3:00:00 PM

1 Hour          Education          North 131C

For better or for worse, many topics in education are controversial. How do we find ways to navigate these issues, constructively, without having to hide from the truth?

Teachers will discover how to navigate through teaching controversial topics while still getting all the information across.

Dani Kachorsky, Graduate Degree, Education and Literacy, Arizona State University

Nicole Bowers, Graduate Student, Studing Science Education, Arizona State University

Earl Aguilera, Graduate Degree, Digital Media and Learning, Arizona State University