

Science of the Lambs: How Domestication Shapes Life

5/26/2017 12:00:00 PM

1 Hour

Science

North 132A

Dogs, corn, and cattle are all products of domestication. Scientists will discuss how humans breed other organisms to fulfill our needs.

Teachers will learn about the history, value and uses of domestication that humans use for other organisms

Kimberly Olney, Graduate student, Genetics and Bioinformatics, Arizona State University

Kelly Young, Graduate Degree, Plant Science, University of Arizona

Christian Ross, Graduate Student, Studying Biochemistry and Genetics, Arizona State University

