

House Call: The Science of Medical Dramas

5/28/2017 4:30:00 PM

1 Hour          Science                  North 131C

Medical dramas typically feature strange medical mysteries and innovative treatments. Get an expert diagnosis on whether these portrayals match the reality of life in the ER.

Teachers will learn about medical science from the perspective of medical drama and whether portrayals match real science.

Jordan Yaron, Graduate Degree, Molecular and Cell Biology, Arizona State University

Stevie Winingear, Graduate Student, Anthropology, genetics, human evolution, Arizona State University

Jeffrey Tully, Graduate Degree, Medicine, Phoenix Children's Hospital

Christian Dameff, Graduate Degree, Emergency Medicine, Hacking, Maricopa Medical Center